

RBC O'Shaughnessy U.S. Value Fund (Unhedged)

Investment Objective

To provide long-term total returns, consisting of capital growth and current income. The fund invests primarily in equity securities of U.S. companies based on Strategy Indexing®, an investment portfolio management model developed in 1995 by Jim O'Shaughnessy. Strategy Indexing is a rigorous and disciplined approach to stock selection based on characteristics associated with above average returns over long periods of time. Stocks, including American Depositary Receipts (ADRs), are bought and held over the course of each year, with no attempt to "time the markets".

Quarterly Commentary as at June 30, 2018

Attractively valued stocks underperformed on the quarter. Our exposure to discounted valuation detracted 0.6% from excess return. Our underweight exposure to mega-cap stocks also detracted 0.7% as the group outperformed. Shareholder Yield delivered roughly neutral performance and had a marginal positive impact on returns. Industry exposures and stock selection for the quarter contributed strongly to returns, more than accounting for factor performance.

For the quarter, the bulk of excess returns came from stock selection while allocation was negative. Underweight allocations to Real Estate and Energy detracted as both sectors outperformed. Selection within Information Technology, specifically Cadence Design Systems Inc., and Consumer Staples, primarily through Sysco Corp., aided returns. Poor stock selection in Industrials resulted from our position in American Airlines Inc., which underperformed. Also, an underweight to upstream oil and gas, notably Exxon Mobil Corp., detracted from performance.

It is the Fund's policy to maintain currency hedges at all times, which had a negative effect on returns during the period.

Based on our key themes, we believe the Fund is well positioned versus its benchmark and relative to the overall market. The portfolio's companies have higher levels of return on capital and lower reliance on external financing, and they trade at deep discounts across several valuation factors. They are also returning capital to shareholders at three times the rate of the benchmark.

These combined advantages can only be delivered by a portfolio which is distinct from the benchmark. Our active share of 88% means that the portfolio continues to represent a unique take on the U.S. market.

As the year progresses, we will continue to focus on our niche of the market: quality companies often trading at out-of-favour prices, which are aggressively returning capital to equity shareholders through dividends and share repurchases.
