

RBC Emerging Markets Bond Fund (CAD Hedged)

Investment Objective

To provide total returns comprised of interest income and capital growth while minimizing the exposure to currency fluctuations between foreign currencies and the Canadian dollar. The fund invests primarily in government debt securities of emerging market countries and may also invest in emerging market corporate bonds and government debt securities of developed countries. The fund may do so either directly or indirectly through investment in other mutual funds managed by RBC GAM or an affiliate. The fund will also use derivatives to hedge against the fluctuations in the value of foreign currencies relative to the Canadian dollar.

Quarterly Commentary as at September 30, 2018

Despite spurts of volatility in emerging market (EM) bonds during Q3, the asset class still experienced strong returns. With countries having issued heavily in the first half of the year, EM bond supply has recently tailed off. Consequently even newer, riskier credits have been able to issue at lower than expected risk premiums on strong demand.

During the quarter, the high yield (HY) portion of EM bonds outperformed the investment grade (IG) portion, which benefitted the Fund as it is overweight in the BB segment of HY. We have been bringing the underweight duration of the Fund back to neutral by adding duration in the high quality countries.

During Q3, Turkey and Argentina sold off to attractive valuation levels, which caused us to bring our weighting in these countries back to neutral. The Fund also benefitted from existing positions in off index countries such as Qatar, Saudi Arabia and Bahrain when JP Morgan announced it would be introducing these countries to the index in the New Year. This prompted heavy buying by dedicated investors trying to position themselves in advance of the index change.

The biggest risks for EM are increasing trade tensions between the U.S. and China, which notably would be negative for most of the world, not solely EM and materially slower growth in China.

Recent economic data from EM countries still remains at decent levels however, the momentum is slowing and while Chinese policy makers are attempting to stimulate the economy, it appears to be stabilizing rather than accelerating it.

Overall, we believe that the structural, long-term story of EM remains sound: the fundamental picture of sovereign balance sheets remains positive and the sell-off witnessed this year in EM debt is creating value and opportunities.
