Quarterly Commentary as at December 31, 2018

The Fund was launched on January 29, 2018. Investment performance is not provided for a fund that has been available for less than one year.

Recent declines in government bonds have made valuations more attractive. The gap between yields on longer-term bonds and shorter-term bonds will continue to narrow, in our view, albeit at a slower pace because the U.S. Federal Reserve (the Fed) is likely nearing the end of the current round of interest-rate increases.

Against a backdrop of slower Fed rate increases, the portfolio manager expects bond yields to rise marginally over the next 12 months. Short-term yields may continue rising faster than those on longer-term bonds so long as central banks appear committed to higher rates. Trade tensions and slowing economic growth could keep bond yields within the recent range.
