

PH&N Currency-Hedged Overseas Equity Fund

Investment Objective

The fundamental investment objective of the Fund is to achieve long-term capital growth primarily through exposure to a diversified portfolio of common stocks in companies in the world's largest industrialized countries outside North America, including countries in Europe and the Far East, including Japan and Australia, while minimizing currency risk. To achieve these objectives, the Fund will invest primarily in units of other funds managed by Phillips, Hager & North. The fundamental investment objective may only be changed with the approval of a majority of unitholders at a meeting called for that purpose. However, we may change the Fund's investment strategies at our discretion.

Quarterly Commentary as at December 31, 2017

South African media conglomerate, Naspers, was the biggest contributor to Fund returns over the period. The company benefited from strong underlying performance of its stake in Tencent Holdings Ltd. while Naspers' aim to get more value from its entire portfolio was also supportive. Japanese manufacturer of mining equipment, Komatsu Ltd., performed well as a result of Chinese sales, a commodity price rally and potential benefits of U.S. tax reforms. U.K.-listed hotel franchise operator, InterContinental Hotels Group PLC, performed strongly on the back of robust franchise fees and the perception that the company stands to benefit from U.S. tax reforms.

The biggest detractor from returns over the quarter was global brewer, Anheuser-Busch InBev SA/NV. The company has seen a slight decline in U.S. beer volumes and suffered supply disruptions in its largest market, the United States, after the summer's storms. Anglo-Dutch consumer stock, Unilever, fell in October after Q3 sales missed estimates and the company sold its spreads division. Irish-listed materials company, CRH PLC, also suffered in late October as U.S. construction spending in Q3 fell markedly, impacted by the summer's hurricanes.

All major economies performed strongly over the quarter with growth and inflation returning. The Trump regime appears to have settled and the first pieces of meaningful legislation have emerged. Despite signs of discontent, the political unrest predicted at the end of 2016 has failed to materialize. Technical factors are also present and, with so much of the market now held passively, there is little price discovery and concomitant volatility in equity prices. A weak U.S. dollar has also helped the global economic expansion.

As always, our team remains committed to discovering companies we deem to be future success stories. We are constantly searching for compelling long-term opportunities at the right valuations while avoiding businesses that are overvalued or optically cheap, but fundamentally flawed.
