Quarterly Commentary as at June 30, 2017

After hitting an all-time high in February, the Canadian equity market, as measured by the S&P/TSX Capped Composite Index, underperformed global equity markets over the past three months. The moderately underwhelming results were a product of poor performance in the Financials, Energy and Materials sectors. Investor concerns over Canadian housing and consumer credit levels outweighed the double-digit earnings growth of most diversified banks. Furthermore, despite OPEC's action to cut production, global inventory levels remain elevated and the price of oil softened during the most recent period. Strength exhibited by the Telecommunication Services, Utilities and Real Estate sectors has been a bright spot this quarter.

This quarter the Fund underperformed its custom benchmark. In equities, the Fund's overweight exposure to Cenovus Energy and Crescent Point Energy was the largest detractor from relative performance due to their sensitivity to oil prices. The Fund's overweight position in the Consumer Discretionary sector had a meaningful benefit.

Positions in Dollarama, Sleep Country Canada and Gildan Activewear were positive contributors.

On the fixed income side of the ledger, bonds provided strong returns to the Fund. Yields were on the decline during most of the second quarter before increasing considerably at quarter end. The Fund entered the quarter cautiously positioned with a modest short duration compared to its benchmark (the Fund was positioned for interest rates to rise) and then became even shorter as interest rates declined. This strategy was modestly helpful to performance when rates rebounded toward the end of the quarter.

The Fund's trading activity is a function of our investment process. Our disciplined fundamental research process and approach to portfolio construction serve as a base to optimize position sizes to match fundamental conviction and minimize exposure to less repeatable, unintended risk factors.
