Quarterly Commentary as at June 30, 2018

Over the period, investors were increasingly concerned about uncertainty surrounding NAFTA negotiations, increased U.S. protectionism and the impact of steel and aluminum tariffs. In addition, rising bond yields and their impact on household debt continues to loom over the economy. Despite these headwinds, all sectors in the Canadian market except Utilities experienced positive performance.

Within the Fund, 6 of 11 sectors contributed positively, led by Telecommunication Services and Financials. Our relative performance in Telecommunications benefited from avoiding exposure to BCE Inc. as competition within the wireless segment intensified. The portfolio's exposure to the wireless segment continues to focus on Shaw Communications Inc. and Quebecor Inc., both of which delivered positive performance over the quarter and are poised to continue capturing market share. In Financials, a position in Element Fleet Management Corp. was the largest contributor as the market reacted favourably to the company's newly appointed CEO.

The Energy sector was the largest detractor this quarter. Commodity prices continue to recover globally; however, domestic oil prices currently trade at a significant discount to their U.S. counterparts. While Canadian companies are profitable at these prices, the largest beneficiaries were energy refiners such as Suncor Energy Inc. and Imperial Oil Ltd., where the portfolio remains underweight in favour of oil and gas producers with more attractive growth profiles. A position in mid-sized oil producer, Raging River Exploration Inc., detracted as the company announced a sale to Baytex Energy Corp. at the end of the quarter. Raging River's share price fell on dilution concerns, but the merged entity should have operational scale advantages and a more diversified asset base.

The Fund's trading activity is a function of our investment process. Our disciplined fundamental research process and approach to portfolio construction optimize position sizes to match fundamental conviction and minimize exposure to unpredictable risk factors.
