Quarterly Commentary as at December 31, 2017

The Fund's performance in the fourth quarter was driven by holdings such as Cardinal Energy Ltd., Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce (CIBC) and Jamieson Wellness Inc.

Cardinal Energy had a solid quarter, which was further buoyed by strong crude oil price appreciation. We continue to expect the company to improve its balance sheet and lower its payout ratio, given its best-in-class decline rate, margin expansion and accretive asset sales. Attractive upside still remains as the company should continue to narrow its trading discount to peers.

CIBC also continues to narrow its discount to peers through positive operating results. Last quarter, earnings exceeded expectation as a result of strong credit, good expense control and solid earnings growth from the newly acquired PrivateBancorp Inc. (PVTB). In fact, PVTB had one of its best quarters across a number of key metrics, illustrated by strong loan growth. As long as the economic backdrop plays out in line with expectations, we continue to expect CIBC to perform well.

Jamieson Wellness continued its strong performance last quarter. The Branded businesses continued to deliver strong organic growth, driven by volume growth in both domestic and international markets. A recently launched cough and cold product is seeing good early reception. We remain confident in the company's prospects to outgrow the market due to new product launches and increased global market penetration, given its broad range of products for all ages and lifestyles.

During the quarter, we added Agnico Eagle Mines Ltd., Chartwell Retirement REIT, Jamieson Wellness and Neo Performance Materials Inc. We also raised our weighting in a number of stocks, including Enbridge Inc., Alimentation Couche-Tard Inc. and Tricon Capital Group Inc. We reduced our weighting in various stocks, including Cenovus Energy Inc., Restaurant Brands International and Brookfield Renewable Power Inc. We also eliminated our position in Trisura Group Ltd.
