Quarterly Commentary as at September 30, 2017

North American equity markets experienced mixed results during Q3. The Canadian Dollar rose 4.0% against the U.S. dollar, negatively affecting the returns of the Fund's U.S. holdings, before the effects of the modest currency hedge.

In Canada, Consumer Discretionary, Energy and Utilities had a positive impact on relative performance. Relative performance was hurt by stock selection in Consumer Staples and Materials. U.S. relative performance was led by Consumer Staples, Health Care and Information Technology. Stock selection in Consumer Discretionary and Energy detracted from performance. The largest contributors to the Fund's relative performance during the quarter included Trican Well Services, Nvidia, and Spin Master. Performance was negatively impacted by Tahoe Resources and General Electric Co.

Equity gains in the U.S. stock market continue to be driven by the corporate fundamentals and remain somewhat attractive despite no longer being as cheap as when the cycle began. As long as earnings continue to grow, stocks will continue to be supported and deliver decent returns. The Canadian stock market remained unchanged for a majority of the third quarter until strength in the Financials and Energy sectors, accounting for over half of the index, helped push the index to modest gains. The Bank of Canada moved to unwind the stimulus put in place to support the Canadian economy amid weak oil prices in 2015, increasing the overnight rate in July and September.

We continue to monitor several scenarios that could lead to declines, namely an escalation of tensions with North Korea, protectionist trade moves by the Trump administration, or a policy mistake by the U.S. Federal Reserve or the Bank of Canada.
