Quarterly Commentary as at June 30, 2018

The second quarter of 2018 was marked by escalating trade tensions between the U.S. and much of the world, as President Trump made good on his promise to institute billions of dollars in tariffs. Against this backdrop, U.S. economic growth accelerated, while the expansion appeared to slow in Europe and emerging markets.

The Fund's overweight position in equities and underweight position in fixed income had a positive impact on performance. Global government bonds were mixed, with U.S. Treasuries finishing the period essentially flat while German and Japanese bonds rose. Canadian bonds posted modest gains during the period, as the trade conflict and slowing global growth capped yields on Government of Canada debt. Returns in the fixed-income segment of the portfolio were held back by the RBC Global High Yield Bond Fund and the RBC Global Corporate Bond Fund.

Global equity markets continued to fluctuate in the quarter as the trade conflict moved beyond the U.S. and China to engulf Europe and Canada. Chinese equity prices slumped while Canadian stocks rebounded, supported by rising oil prices. Returns were bolstered by the RBC Canadian Dividend Fund and the Phillips, Hager & North Canadian Income Fund.

Economic growth slowed in the first half of 2018, but remains at its most solid since the financial crisis amid U.S. fiscal stimulus and business and consumer optimism. The portfolio manager expects continued expansion, encouraging central banks to nudge rates higher and acting as a headwind for bond returns. As a result, the Fund remains underweight fixed income, but less so than at previous points in the cycle. Stocks offer more attractive prospects. The portfolio manager has been moderating risk-taking but the potential upside in earnings still justifies a mild overweight in stocks.
