Quarterly Commentary as at December 31, 2017

Being smaller than the market aided returns as smaller cap stocks outperformed. An overweight to discounted stocks detracted from performance. Industry allocation effects were a positive, notably an underweight allocation to Energy. The Fund seeks stocks that meet certain quality criteria for earnings quality, financial strength, momentum, valuation, and earnings growth. The Fund then focuses equally on stocks that are priced at a discount relative to sales, earnings, and cash flows, and have strong momentum. In constructing the Fund we ignore market capitalization as a factor. In a market like Canada, which tends to be dominated by a narrow group of very large stocks, this means our Fund tends to skew smaller than the benchmark. This was again the case in Q4, and benefitted the Fund. Our favoritism for stocks priced at a discount detracted -0.2% from performance in Q4 as value underperformed. However, value outperformed in 2017, and contributed a positive 3.4% to year to date performance. Momentum ended Q4 outperforming by 1.7%. Momentum was one of the stronger factors in 2017, outperforming by 6.8% cumulatively, and contributing 1.4% to excess return. Overweights to our quality factors detracted -0.2% in Q4, and -0.4% in 2017.

Overall sector allocation effects added and security selection effects detracted from returns during Q4. An underweight allocation to Energy and an overweight allocation to Health Care aided returns. Security selection within Consumer Discretionary, and Financials contributed to performance while security selection within Health Care and Utilities detracted from performance.

Our research of individual stock data leads us to believe that Value, Momentum, and Quality are themes that are critically important to future outperformance. We consistently avoid sectors and industries that exhibit unfavorable characteristics, and hone in on areas of the market that are favorable in the ways we deem relevant. Given the Fund's positioning relative to its benchmark—measured by key characteristics we use in our stock selection process—we believe the Fund is well situated for 2018.
