

PH&N Currency-Hedged U.S. Equity Fund

Investment Objective

The fundamental investment objective of the Fund is to provide significant long-term capital growth primarily through exposure to a well-diversified portfolio of quality U.S. common stocks, while minimizing currency risk. To achieve these objectives, the Fund will invest primarily in units of other funds managed by Phillips, Hager & North. Fundamental investment objectives may only be changed with the approval of a majority of unitholders at a meeting called for that purpose. However, we may change the Fund's investment strategies at our discretion.

Quarterly Commentary as at September 30, 2017

The U.S. stock market made progress again this past quarter, rising 0.4% (in CAD terms). Strong performances from the Technology, Energy and Telecom sectors powered the advance while the Discretionary and Staples sectors detracted.

The S&P 500 is up roughly 10.3% since the November election of President Trump, but corporate fundamentals rather than politics have been the driving force for the market. After three years of essentially flat earnings, the S&P 500 is expected to generate roughly 10% earnings growth in 2017. It remains difficult to anticipate the forward path of U.S. fiscal policy— President Trump started his term with grand plans, but little has been implemented. Our indicators suggest that the odds of a recession remain fairly low, but the risks of a correction have increased.

The Fund underperformed during the quarter. The largest drag was in Industrials, particularly the exclusion of the Boeing Company as it focused on reducing costs, while benefiting from Trump's defense and trade rhetoric. Energy was also a drag with an overweight position in Pioneer Natural Resources Company as it modified plans in the Permian Basin. Offsetting this weakness was Utilities, with overweight NRG Energy Inc. aiding returns.

Stocks continue to be supported by a global synchronized expansion and renewed corporate-profit growth around the world. While stocks are not as cheap as they were when the cycle began, they remain somewhat attractive relative to fixed income. Markets have benefited from rising earnings and price-to-earnings ratios through this bull market, but earnings rather than valuations may now be the force needed to propel the market higher.
