MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Investment Objective and Strategies

The Fund seeks to provide total returns comprised of interest income and some capital growth by investing primarily in units of other mutual funds managed by RBC GAM or an affiliate of RBC GAM (called the “underlying funds”), emphasizing mutual funds that invest in high-quality fixed-income securities issued internationally by Canadian and foreign governments and in emerging-market currencies. The Fund may also invest in fixed-income securities issued by Canadian and foreign corporations and supranational agencies such as the World Bank.

To achieve its objective, the Fund selects underlying funds from the RBC Funds family or PH&N Funds family, including the RBC Global Bond Fund, a portion of which is sub-advised by RBC Global Asset Management (UK) Limited and the RBC Emerging Markets Foreign Exchange Fund, which primarily invests in investment-grade fixed-income securities issued internationally by the Canadian government and corporations or foreign governments and corporations, or provides exposure to emerging-market currencies.

The portfolio manager allocates and rebalances the Fund’s assets among underlying funds based on the underlying funds’ ability to help the Fund meet its investment objectives.

Risk

There were no significant changes to the investment objective and strategies that affected the Fund’s overall level of risk during the reporting period. The risks of investing in the Fund and the suitability of the Fund for investors remain as discussed in the Simplified Prospectus.

Results of Operations

The Fund was launched on January 29, 2018, and its net asset value was $9 million as of December 31, 2018. Investment performance is not provided for a fund that has been available for less than one year.

Recent Developments

Lower economic growth suggests that the U.S. Federal Reserve (the “Fed”) will slow its pace of rate increases in 2019, relative to earlier expectations. The European Central Bank has ended its bond-buying program and may begin raising rates in 2019. Against this backdrop, the portfolio manager expects bond yields to rise marginally over the next 12 months. Short-term yields might continue rising faster than those on longer-term bonds, as long as central banks seem committed to higher benchmark rates. However, in the view of the portfolio manager, the bulk of Fed rate increases is likely behind us, and trade tensions and slowing economic growth could keep bond yields within the recent range.

The portfolio manager expects emerging-market currencies to continue recovering in the near term, given indications that the Fed is likely to start slowing the pace of interest-rate increases from the four hikes recorded in 2018. Growth for most emerging economies will remain subdued in the first half of 2019, and the portfolio manager will continue to favour currencies with faster expected economic growth, lower vulnerability to U.S.-dollar funding and governments willing to enact structural reforms.

Related-Party Transactions

Manager, Trustee and Portfolio Manager

RBC GAM is an indirect, wholly owned subsidiary of Royal Bank of Canada (“Royal Bank”) and is the manager, trustee and portfolio manager of the Fund. RBC GAM is paid a management fee by the Fund as compensation for its services. The Fund pays a fixed administration fee to RBC GAM, which, in turn, pays certain operating expenses of the Fund. Both the management fee and fixed administration fee are calculated and accrued daily as a percentage of the net asset value of each series of units of the Fund. RBC GAM, as trustee, earns a fee, which is paid by the manager from the fixed administration fee paid by the Fund.

RBC GAM or its affiliates may earn fees and spreads in connection with various services provided to, or transactions with, the Fund, such as banking, brokerage, securities lending, foreign exchange and derivatives transactions. RBC GAM or its affiliates may earn a foreign exchange spread when unitholders switch between series of funds denominated in different currencies. ¹ The management expense ratio ("MER") is based on expenses for the stated period, excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, and is expressed as an annualized percentage of the daily average net asset value during the period. RBC GAM may, at its discretion and without notice to unitholders, waive or absorb certain operating expenses. MER includes the waiver or absorption by RBC GAM of certain operating expenses, while the MER before absorption shows the MER prior to operating expenses being waived or absorbed by RBC GAM.

² The Fund's portfolio turnover rate gives an indication of the level of activity employed by the portfolio manager. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the Fund. The portfolio turnover rate is not applicable to money market funds.

³ The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. The trading expense ratio is not applicable to fixed-income transactions.
