MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Investment Objective and Strategies

The Fund pursues above-average long-term returns consisting of interest income and moderate capital growth by investing mainly in high-quality fixed-income securities issued by Canadian governments and corporations. Holdings within the portfolio in non-investment grade bonds are limited to 30% of assets.

The Fund may invest in similar securities outside of Canada.

Risk

There were no significant changes to the investment objective and strategies that affected the Fund's overall level of risk during the reporting period. The risks of investing in the Fund and the suitability of the Fund for investors remain as discussed in the Simplified Prospectus.

Results of Operations

The Fund's net asset value rose to $25.5 billion as of December 31, 2024, from $23.0 billion at the end of 2023. The increase was due to a combination of net inflows and investment returns.

Over the past year, the Fund's Series F units gained 4.5%, which outperformed the 4.2% rise in the benchmark. The Fund's return is after the deduction of fees and expenses, while benchmark and broad-based index returns do not include any costs of investing. See the Financial Highlights section for the management expense ratios and the Past Performance section for the returns of any other series, which may vary because of differences in management fees and expenses.

Canadian bonds posted gains for a second straight year, outperforming U.S. fixed income, as the Bank of Canada (the "BOC") steadily cut interest rates in response to falling inflation and weakness in the domestic economy. The BOC lowered its benchmark rate by 1.75 percentage points between June and December to 3.25%, making it the most aggressive among major central banks in getting rates down. A significant drop in inflation to the BOC's 2% target made it possible for the BOC to move so quickly amid increasing unemployment and a significant drop in per-capita demand for goods and services.

The outlook for economic growth was hurt by expectations that the federal government would scale back immigration, which has contributed significantly to the rise in GDP in recent years. The U.S. Federal Reserve (the "Fed") cut its key interest rate by 1 percentage point in 2024, lowering the benchmark to a range with a midpoint of 4.375%, down from 5.375% at the start of the year. Treasury yields were supported by robust U.S. economic growth, the federal government's rising debt load and a scaling-back of bond buys by the Fed. Government of Canada bonds outperformed, as the strong U.S. economy drove the yield premium on the 10-year Treasury to 1.35 percentage points above the comparable Canadian 10-year security, compared with a gap of 0.75 point a year ago.

The Fund's relative performance benefited from exposure to non-government debt, which outperformed Government of Canada securities. Corporate, high-yield and emerging-market debt performed strongly as decent global economic growth and strong demand led to rising prices for non-government fixed income. Investors in non-government bonds benefited from the higher income offered relative to comparable government securities and the modest capital gains from strong investor appetite to own riskier fixed-income securities. Gains from these non-government securities cushioned losses from exposure to underperforming U.S. bonds, whose yields fell less than those in Canada.

Recent Developments

The portfolio manager expects central banks in Canada, Europe and the UK to continue cutting benchmark interest rates in 2025 given subdued economic growth and moderating inflation. However, President-elect Trump's threat to raise U.S. tariffs has kept investors wary of Treasuries, and they now expect the Fed to reduce rates at a more gradual pace. The portfolio manager has built holdings of cash and lower-risk securities so that attractively priced assets can be accumulated in the event of a sell-off.

Barring a further weakening in economic growth, Canadian bond yields may rise as the Canadian government will likely have to increase bond issuance to fund its expanding fiscal stimulus. The portfolio manager expects Canadian bonds to underperform their U.S. counterparts over the next year.

¹ The management expense ratio ("MER") is based on the direct expenses charged to the Fund and the Fund's proportionate share of the expenses of underlying funds, if any, for the stated period, excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, and is expressed as an annualized percentage of the daily average net asset value during the period. RBC GAM may, at its discretion and without notice to unitholders, waive or absorb certain operating expenses. MER includes the waiver or absorption by RBC GAM of certain operating expenses, while the MER before absorption shows the MER prior to operating expenses being waived or absorbed by RBC GAM.

² The Fund's portfolio turnover rate gives an indication of the level of activity employed by the portfolio manager. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the Fund. The portfolio turnover rate is not applicable to money market funds.

³ The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs of the Fund and the Fund's proportionate share of such costs of underlying funds expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. The trading expense ratio is not applicable to fixed-income transactions.

Effective March 1, 2020, the administration fees for Series A units were reduced to 0.05% from 0.10%. If the changes to the administration fees would have been in effect throughout the financial year ended December 31, 2020, the adjusted MER for each series of the Fund would be: Series A – 1.06%.

Management Fees and Administration Fees

Management fees and administration fees of each series of the Fund are payable to RBC GAM and calculated at the following annual percentages, before GST/HST, of the daily net asset value of each series of the Fund. The management fee, breakdown of services received in consideration of the management fee, as a percentage of the management fee, and the administration fee for each series are as follows:

	Management Fees	Breakdown of Services		Administration Fees
		Distribution	Other*
Series A	0.90%	56%	44%	0.05%
Series D	0.55%	27%	73%	0.05%
Series F	0.40%	—	100%	0.05%
Series O	n/a	n/a	n/a	0.02%

Series O – no management fees are paid by the Fund with respect to Series O units. Series O unitholders pay a negotiated fee directly to RBC GAM for investment-counselling services.

* Includes all costs related to management, trustee, investment advisory services, general administration and profit.

PAST PERFORMANCE

The performance information shown assumes that all distributions made by the Fund in the periods shown were reinvested in additional units of the Fund and would be lower if distributions were not reinvested. The performance information does not take into account sales, redemption, distribution, optional charges or income taxes payable that would have reduced returns or performance. Past performance does not necessarily indicate how the Fund may perform in the future. A fund with more than 10 years of performance history is only permitted to disclose the past 10 years.

Year-by-Year Returns (%)

The bar chart indicates the Fund's performance for each of the years shown, and illustrates how the Fund's performance has changed from year to year. The bar chart shows, in percentage terms, how much an investment made on the first day of each financial year would have grown or decreased by the end of the financial year.
