MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Investment Objective and Strategies

The Fund seeks to provide long-term capital growth by investing primarily in equity securities of U.S. mid-cap companies that are deemed to be undervalued in order to provide broad exposure to economic growth opportunities in the equity markets.

To achieve its investment objective, the Fund invests most of its assets in the RBC U.S. Mid-Cap Value Equity Fund (the “underlying fund”). The underlying fund’s investment process is based primarily on fundamental research, although the portfolio manager will also consider quantitative and technical factors. Stock selection decisions are ultimately based on an understanding of the company, its business and its outlook. The portfolio manager diversifies the underlying fund across industries in the U.S. market and selects companies based on strong management, focused business models and the potential for future growth in earnings and cash flow.

Risk

There were no significant changes to the investment objective and strategies that affected the Fund’s overall level of risk during the reporting period. The risks of investing in the Fund and the suitability of the Fund for investors remain as discussed in the Simplified Prospectus.

Results of Operations

The Fund’s net asset value rose to $1 million as of March 31, 2021, from $872,000 as of March 31, 2020. The increase was due to a combination of net inflows and investment returns.

Over the past year, the Fund’s Series A shares gained 45.8%, underperforming the 55.2% rise in the benchmark. The Fund’s return is after the deduction of fees and expenses, while the benchmark and broad-based index returns do not include any costs of investing. See the Financial Highlights section for the management expense ratios and the Past Performance section for the returns of any other series, which may vary because of differences in management fees and expenses.

The period began soon after the arrival of the COVID-19 pandemic and was highlighted by extraordinary gains for stocks following sharp losses in the first quarter of 2020. Equity markets began their march higher after major central banks launched unprecedented monetary support and fiscal spending increased significantly. Stock got another leg up in November following approvals for COVID-19 vaccines, although the pace of gains slowed after interest rates jumped in early 2021 on concern about faster inflation. By the end of the period, the U.S. and some other developed countries had vaccinated large portions of their population, and many investors were optimistic that the U.S. economy would accelerate over the rest of 2021.

The Fund’s underperformance over the 12-month period was due to stock selection and sector allocation. The negative impact of stock selection was concentrated in the Information Technology, Industrials and Consumer Staples sectors, offsetting favourable stock selection in Consumer Discretionary and Real Estate. The portfolio’s overweight position in the relatively weak-performing Consumer Staples sector weighed on relative returns during the period.

Individual stocks that had a positive impact on returns included Caesars Entertainment and Zebra Technologies, while FirstEnergy, Quidel and Columbia Financial had a negative impact.

Recent Developments

Expectations that the economy will put the pandemic’s economic impact behind it is causing a marked shift in the kinds of stocks and sectors where investors are focusing their attention. For instance, large-cap growth stocks such as Amazon and Apple, which surged for much of 2020, have been giving up ground to small- and mid-cap stocks, which tend to benefit more from quickening economic growth.

Effective February 28, 2021, Ms. Catherine J. Kloepper resigned as Vice Chair of the Independent Review Committee (the “IRC”). Effective March 22, 2021, Mr. Paul K. Bates was appointed as Vice Chair of the IRC. Effective April 1, 2021, Ms. Brenda Eaton was appointed as a member of the IRC.

Effective June 26, 2020, Advisor Series mutual fund shares were capped and were re-designated as Series A mutual fund shares effective August 4, 2020.

² The Fund's portfolio turnover rate gives an indication of the level of activity employed by the portfolio manager. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the Fund.

³ The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. The trading expense ratio is not applicable to fixed-income transactions.

Effective June 30, 2016, the management fees for Series A mutual fund shares were reduced to 1.75% from 1.85%; for Series D mutual fund shares were reduced to 1.00% from 1.10%; and for Series F mutual fund shares were reduced to 0.75% from 0.85%. If the changes to the management fees would have been in effect throughout the financial year ended March 31, 2017, the adjusted MER for each series of the Fund would be: Series A – 2.15%, Series D – 1.31% and Series F – 1.04%.

Past performance does not necessarily indicate how the Fund may perform in the future. A fund with more than 10 years of performance history is only permitted to disclose the past 10 years.

Year-by-Year Returns (%)

The bar chart indicates the Fund's performance for each of the years shown, and illustrates how the Fund's performance has changed from year to year.
