MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE (in USD)

Investment Objective and Strategies

The Fund seeks to provide current income by investing in short-term U.S. fixed-income securities. The Fund invests primarily in a well-diversified portfolio of short-term fixed-income securities issued or guaranteed by the U.S. Treasury and U.S. government and its agencies.

Risk

There were no significant changes to the investment objective and strategies that affected the Fund's overall level of risk during the reporting period. The risks of investing in the Fund and the suitability of the Fund for investors remain as discussed in the Simplified Prospectus.

Results of Operations

The Fund's net asset value rose to $14 million as of December 31, 2023, from $9 million at the end of 2022. The increase was due to net inflows.

Over the past year, the Fund's Series F units gained 4.2%, which underperformed the 4.3% rise in the benchmark. The Fund's return is after the deduction of fees and expenses, while benchmark and broad-based index returns do not include any costs of investing. See the Financial Highlights section for the management expense ratios and the Past Performance section for the returns of any other series, which may vary because of differences in management fees and expenses.

U.S. fixed income generated gains during 2023 after two years of losses, as an overall decline in yields during the year drove bond prices higher. Market interest rates were influenced by the U.S. Federal Reserve's (the "Fed") aggressive monetary approach. Policymakers combatted historically high inflation by continuing to raise the benchmark fed funds rate, which ended the year at the highest levels since 2000. Meanwhile, the U.S. economy largely shrugged off recession fears, as a robust labour market and resilient consumer spending offset higher borrowing costs. Most of the bond gains came toward year-end on investor expectations that the Fed was done raising rates, and the Fed did signal in December that policy rates had likely peaked.

The Fund's return was positively affected by overall higher rates in Treasury-bond yields, providing greater income generation. Additionally, the Fund's relative performance benefited from overweight positions in taxable municipal bonds, federal-agency-backed commercial mortgage-backed securities ("Agency CMBS") and federal government-supported mortgage-backed securities ("Agency MBS"). These holdings provide a yield advantage over comparable Treasury and government-related securities. The yield advantage provides higher income in the Fund relative to the benchmark.

Recent Developments

The sub-advisor will continue efforts to maximize the Fund's yield by focusing on investments such as taxable municipal bonds, Agency CMBS and Agency MBS. The Fund will continue to maintain a portfolio that is not overly susceptible to the impact of interest-rate changes relative to the index.

Effective January 1, 2023, Suromitra Sanatani was appointed as Chair of the Independent Review Committee ("the IRC"). Effective February 1, 2023, Joanne Vézina was appointed as a member of the IRC. Effective March 1, 2023, Enrique Cuyegkeng was appointed as a member of the IRC.

RBC GAM or its affiliates may earn fees and spreads in connection with various services provided to, or transactions with, the Fund, such as banking, brokerage, securities lending, foreign exchange and derivatives transactions. RBC GAM or its affiliates may earn a foreign exchange spread when unitholders switch between series of funds denominated in different currencies. ¹ The management expense ratio ("MER") is based on the direct expenses charged to the Fund and the Fund's proportionate share of the expenses of underlying funds, if any, for the stated period, excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, and is expressed as an annualized percentage of the daily average net asset value during the period. RBC GAM may, at its discretion and without notice to unitholders, waive or absorb certain operating expenses. MER includes the waiver or absorption by RBC GAM of certain operating expenses, while the MER before absorption shows the MER prior to operating expenses being waived or absorbed by RBC GAM.

² The Fund's portfolio turnover rate gives an indication of the level of activity employed by the portfolio manager. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the Fund. The portfolio turnover rate is not applicable to money market funds.

⁴ From January 14, 2021.

Past performance does not necessarily indicate how the Fund may perform in the future. A fund with more than 10 years of performance history is only permitted to disclose the past 10 years.
