MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Investment Objective and Strategies

The Fund is an asset allocation fund specifically designed to meet the changing needs of investors who are saving money for the purpose of funding their child's post-secondary education that commences around 2025. The Fund gradually shifts its asset mix from an emphasis on equity funds in its early years, to an emphasis on money market funds as its "target" year of 2025 approaches. The Fund invests its assets primarily in units of other funds managed by RBC GAM or an affiliate of RBC GAM (called the "underlying funds").

Over the life of the Fund, its portfolio will shift from a focus on funds with growth potential to a focus on funds that preserve capital.

Risk

There were no significant changes to the investment objective and strategies that affected the Fund's overall level of risk during the reporting period. The risks of investing in the Fund and the suitability of the Fund for investors remain as discussed in the Simplified Prospectus.

Results of Operations

The Fund's net asset value rose to $1.9 billion as of December 31, 2021, from $1.8 billion at the end of 2020. The increase was due to a combination of net inflows and investment returns.

Over the past year, the Fund's Series A units gained 1.3%. The broad-based index 1 fell 2.5% and the broad-based index 2 rose 25.1%. The Fund's return is after the deduction of fees and expenses, while broad-based index returns do not include any costs of investing. See the Financial Highlights section for the management expense ratios and the Past Performance section for the returns of any other series, which may vary because of differences in management fees and expenses.

The coronavirus was less disruptive to the global economy in 2021 than in 2020, with vaccinations at the beginning of the year leading to widespread economic reopenings in the U.S. and Europe by June. Canada, which lagged other developing countries in delivering vaccines, was bolstered by rising oil prices until its economy reopened later in the summer. By the end of 2021, emerging markets had made progress with inoculations, but the late-year rise of a much more transmissible COVID-19 variant had businesses returning to at least partial lockdowns and left investors again wondering when the economy would return to normal.

Government bonds in most major markets had losses in 2021 after fixed-income yields surged from the record-low levels of 2020. The decline in the Canadian bond benchmark was the first since 2013 and was caused mainly by an overall rise in long-term yields due to expectations that inflation would climb in response to faster economic growth and supply-chain bottlenecks. In the second half of 2021, inflation in many regions surged to the fastest pace in decades, prompting the U.S. Federal Reserve (the "Fed") to abandon its narrative that inflation would be "transitory" and leading other major central banks to consider raising short-term interest rates. The Fed started scaling back asset purchases in November, and in December, doubled the pace of the reductions as a prelude to interest-rate hikes. The Bank of Canada stopped its own bond purchases in November given strength in labour and housing markets. Returns in the fixed-income segment of the portfolio were held back by the RBC Bond Fund and the RBC Canadian Short-Term Income Fund.

Stocks in many developed markets recorded extremely attractive returns, with the U.S., Europe and Canada posting gains of about 20%. Emerging markets, however, registered losses, mainly because of the underperformance of Chinese stock markets amid regulatory crackdowns, energy shortages and a real-estate crisis sparked by the implosion of Evergrande Group, a residential developer. Even with the arrival of the latest coronavirus variant at year-end, many stock markets traded near record highs on optimism that 2022 would be the year that the coronavirus began to fade. Returns were bolstered by the RBC Canadian Equity Fund and the RBC European Equity Fund.

Recent Developments

Economic conditions and growth forecasts remain good by historical standards, but have moderated amid headwinds from the new coronavirus variant, the highest inflation in decades, supply-chain challenges and less monetary and fiscal support. Valuations for non-government bonds are near historical highs, leading the portfolio manager to believe that a more cautious investment approach is warranted.

Against the current backdrop of strong economic growth and high inflation, the portfolio manager expects that several major central banks will raise interest rates over the next year. Bond yields should gradually increase over 2022, but returns will be modest and insufficient to offset the impact of inflation. Stocks continue to offer the potential for better returns in today's environment of low interest rates, especially if earnings growth remains solid and investors remain optimistic.

Effective February 28, 2021, Ms. Catherine J. Kloepfer resigned as Vice Chair of the Independent Review Committee (the "IRC"). Effective March 22, 2021, Mr. Paul K. Bates was appointed as Vice Chair of the IRC. Effective April 1, 2021, Ms. Brenda Eaton was appointed as a member of the IRC.

¹ The management expense ratio ("MER") is based on the direct expenses charged to the Fund and the Fund's proportionate share of the expenses of underlying funds, if any, for the stated period, excluding commissions and other portfolio transaction costs, and is expressed as an annualized percentage of the daily average net asset value during the period. RBC GAM may, at its discretion and without notice to unitholders, waive or absorb certain operating expenses. MER includes the waiver or absorption by RBC GAM of certain operating expenses, while the MER before absorption shows the MER prior to operating expenses being waived or absorbed by RBC GAM.

² The Fund's portfolio turnover rate gives an indication of the level of activity employed by the portfolio manager. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the year. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a year, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the year, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the year. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of the Fund. The portfolio turnover rate is not applicable to money market funds.

³ The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs of the Fund and the Fund's proportionate share of such costs of underlying funds expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. The trading expense ratio is not applicable to fixed-income transactions.

Effective January 1, 2020, the Specified Percentage for Series A units was reduced to 1.55% from 1.75%; and for Series D units was reduced to 0.90% from 1.00%; and the management fees for Series F units were reduced to 0.70% from 0.80%.

Management Fees and Administration Fees

Management fees and administration fees of each series of the Fund are payable to RBC GAM and calculated at the following annual percentages, before GST/HST, of the daily net asset value of each series of the Fund.

The management fee payable in respect of each of Series A and Series D units of the Fund is a variable fee and is determined on a basis such that all fees and expenses that comprise the management expense ratio ("MER"), other than the additional cost of the GST/HST, will be equal to a specified percentage of the average net asset value of each of these series of the Fund ("Specified Percentage"). The Specified Percentage includes the management fee, administration fee, taxes (other than the additional cost of the GST/HST), other fund costs and any fees and expenses of the underlying funds. The Specified Percentage for Series A units is 1.55% and Series D units is 0.90%. Effective January 1, 2023, the Specified Percentage for Series A units will be reduced to 1.00% from 1.55%; and for Series D units will be reduced to 0.80% from 0.90%.

The management fee payable to RBC GAM in respect of Series F units of the Fund is a fixed fee and the MER of Series F units comprises the management fee, administration fee, taxes, other fund costs and any fees and expenses of the underlying funds.

The management fee, breakdown of services received in consideration of the management fee component of the MER, as a percentage of the management fee, and the administration fee for each series are as follows:

	Management Fees* [†]	Breakdown of Services Distribution		Administration Fees
		Distribution	Other [‡]
Series A	1.40%	53%	47%	0.05%
Series D	0.78%	29%	71%	0.05%
Series F	0.70%	—	100%	0.05%

* Management fees for Series A and Series D units represent the actual average management fee rate for the periods ended December 31, 2021 and 2020.

[†] Effective January 1, 2020, the Specified Percentage for Series A units was reduced to 1.55% from 1.75%; and for Series D units was reduced to 0.90% from 1.00%. Effective January 1, 2020, the management fees for Series F units were reduced to 0.70% from 0.80%. Effective January 1, 2023, the management fees for Series F units will be reduced to 0.65% from 0.70%.

[‡] Includes all costs related to management, trustee, investment advisory services, general administration and profit.

PAST PERFORMANCE

The performance information shown assumes that all distributions made by the Fund in the periods shown were reinvested in additional units of the Fund and would be lower if distributions were not reinvested. The performance information does not take into account sales, redemption, distribution, optional charges or income taxes payable that would have reduced returns or performance. Past performance does not necessarily indicate how the Fund may perform in the future. A fund with more than 10 years of performance history is only permitted to disclose the past 10 years.

Year-by-Year Returns (%)

The bar chart indicates the Fund's performance for each of the years shown, and illustrates how the Fund's performance has changed from year to year. The bar chart shows, in percentage terms, how much an investment made on the first day of each financial year would have grown or decreased by the end of the financial year.
