MANAGEMENT DISCUSSION OF FUND PERFORMANCE

Investment Objective and Strategies

The Fund pursues above-average total returns comprised of interest income and capital growth by investing in higher-yielding corporate or government debt securities from anywhere around the world.

The Fund invests primarily in global high yield debt securities rated below BBB(-) by Standard & Poor's. The portfolio manager employs a value-focused philosophy for corporate bonds, striving to invest in quality companies having stable to improving credit profiles which are undervalued given current market sentiment. The Fund manages risks by limiting its holdings in any single industry, issuer, country or credit rating. The Fund may use derivatives to protect against losses from changes in interest rates, market indices and currency fluctuations.

Results of Operations

The Fund's net asset value was $3.3 billion as of June 30, 2022.

Over the past six months, the Fund's Series A units lost 17.6%. The Fund's return is after the deduction of fees and expenses. See the Financial Highlights section for the management expense ratios and the Past Performance section for the returns of any other series, which may vary because of differences in management fees and expenses.

Global bonds had one of their worst starts in the first half of 2022 as interest rates increased on concern about accelerating inflation and central-bank rate hikes. The rise in commodity prices resulting from the Ukraine-Russia war and supply-chain constraints intensified inflation concerns. U.S. inflation rose to a 40-year high of 8.6%, prompting the U.S. Federal Reserve to raise interest rates much faster than investors had expected. Emerging-market sovereign fixed income was among the hardest hit areas of the global bond market given its sensitivity to the big increases in Treasury yields.

The Fund's performance benefited overall from security selection and a small cash position, which together offset the negative impact of an overweight allocation to emerging markets. Holdings of bonds issued by energy companies aided returns as high oil prices boosted their balance sheets and earnings. Holding back the Fund's performance was a higher allocation to long-maturity U.S. high-yield bonds, which are more sensitive to changes in interest rates, as well as holdings in a steel producer and a packaging company.

The emerging-market segment of the Fund benefited from its lower exposure to Russia, and the portfolio manager sold the Fund's Russian holdings after many countries imposed sanctions in the wake of its invasion of Ukraine. The cloudy macroeconomic and geopolitical outlook meant that investments in riskier emerging markets, such as the Dominican Republic, Kenya, Ghana and Honduras, negatively affected the Fund's returns.

Recent Developments

U.S. high-yield and emerging-market sovereign bonds will likely continue to face an environment characterized by slower growth, higher inflation and higher interest-rate volatility. Against these negatives is the recognition that both types of securities offer much more attractive yields than they did at the beginning of the year.

The portfolio manager favours emerging markets over U.S. high yield. Emerging-market sovereign bonds should benefit on signs that the Chinese economy is turning the corner, supported by its government's efforts to stimulate growth. Given the economic uncertainty, the portfolio manager is taking steps to limit the risks in the portfolio.

Effective April 11, 2022, all Advisor Series units with a deferred sales charge option were re-designated as Series A units. Any redemption fees associated with such re-designations were waived by RBC GAM.

³ The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs of the Fund and the Fund's proportionate share of such costs of underlying funds expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period. The trading expense ratio is not applicable to fixed-income transactions.

Effective March 1, 2020, the administration fees for Series A units were reduced to 0.05% from 0.10%. If the changes to the administration fees would have been in effect throughout the financial year ended December 31, 2020, the adjusted MER for each series of the Fund would be: Series A – 1.73%.

PAST PERFORMANCE

The performance information shown assumes that all distributions made by the Fund in the periods shown were reinvested in additional units of the Fund and would be lower if distributions were not reinvested. The performance information does not take into account sales, redemption, distribution, optional charges or income taxes payable that would have reduced returns or performance. Past performance does not necessarily indicate how the Fund may perform in the future. A fund with more than 10 years of performance history is only permitted to disclose the past 10 years.

Year-by-Year Returns (%)

The bar chart indicates the Fund’s performance for each of the years shown, and illustrates how the Fund’s performance has changed from year to year. The bar chart shows, in percentage terms, how much an investment made on the first day of each financial year would have grown or decreased by the end of the financial year or interim period.

Inception dates are not provided for series that have been in existence for more than 10 years.

Advisor Series units with initial sales charge and/or low-load sales charge options were re-designated as Series A units effective August 4, 2020. Advisor Series units with a deferred sales charge option were re-designated as Series A units effective April 11, 2022.
