PH&N Monthly Income Fund

Commentary as at December 31, 2022

Canadian and U.S. stocks tumbled in 2022, fueled by the highest inflation in decades and the concurrent rise in interest rates. Stocks came under pressure after the U.S. Federal Reserve and the Bank of Canada (the "BOC") responded to inflation – the fastest in 40 years – with a vow to stamp it out with successive interest-rate hikes. Interest-rate-sensitive stocks were hurt most, resulting in a sell-off in the Information Technology sector in both markets. Meanwhile, a surge in energy prices helped cushion market returns in Canada, which outperformed most other major markets during the year. The drop in the S&P 500 Index was the worst since 2008 – the year of the financial crisis – but only since 2018 for the Canadian benchmark.

In the equity portion of the Fund, relative exposure to Magna International, Element Fleet Management and PrairieSky Royalty had the most positive impact on the Fund's returns, while exposure to Cenovus Energy, Brookfield Corp. and Canadian Apartment Properties REIT was negative for performance.

The Fund's fixed-income segment was positioned to have less sensitivity to interest rates than the broader bond market, which helped to insulate the portfolio from the decline in bond prices resulting from the sharp rise in interest rates. Additionally, the portfolio manager's continued preference for high-quality corporate bonds – issuers with steady earnings and healthy balance sheets – contributed strongly to the Fund's performance as these bonds outperformed riskier corporate bonds.

Uncertainty is elevated and there is a wide range of potential outcomes for the economy and financial markets. The good news for investors is that stocks are now much more reasonably priced than they were at the start of the year. While valuation risk has diminished and long-term return potential has increased, stock prices could still fall in the event that we enter a recession and earnings decline. In the current environment, stock gains could be limited in the near term absent evidence that the economy is cooling adequately to bring down inflation while avoiding a recession.

While the sharp rise in yields in 2022 resulted in declines for the Fund, investors should keep in mind that the yield of the Fund's bond holdings is significantly higher than it was a year ago. The portfolio manager's research shows that, all else being equal, periods in which yields rise significantly are often followed by periods of attractive fixed-income returns.

This has been provided by RBC Global Asset Management Inc. (RBC GAM) and is for informational purposes, as of the date noted only. Discussion of any securities in this report is not a recommendation to buy or sell any specific security, and is subject to change. It is not intended to provide legal, accounting, tax, investment, financial or other advice and such information should not be relied upon for providing such advice. RBC GAM takes reasonable steps to provide up-to-date, accurate and reliable information, and believes the information to be so when provided. Past performance is no guarantee of future results. Interest rates, market conditions, tax rulings and other investment factors are subject to rapid change which may materially impact analysis that is included in this document. You should consult with your advisor before taking any action based upon the information contained in this document. All opinions constitute our judgment as of the dates indicated, are subject to change without notice and are provided in good faith without legal responsibility. Information obtained from third parties is believed to be reliable but RBC GAM and its affiliates assume no responsibility for any errors or omissions or for any loss or damage suffered. RBC GAM reserves the right at any time and without notice to change, amend or cease publication of the information.

Please consult your advisor and read the prospectus or Fund Facts document before investing. There may be commissions, trailing commissions, management fees and expenses associated with mutual fund investments. Mutual funds are not guaranteed or covered by the Canada Deposit Insurance Corporation or by any other government deposit insurer. Mutual fund unit values change frequently. For money market funds, there can be no assurances that the fund will be able to maintain its net asset value per security at a constant amount or that the full amount of your investment in the fund will be returned to you. Past performance may not be repeated. RBC Funds, RBC Private Pools, RBC Alternative Funds and PH&N Funds are offered by RBC Global Asset Management Inc. (RBC GAM) and distributed through authorized dealers in Canada.

This document may contain forward-looking statements about a fund or general economic factors which are not guarantees of future performance. Forward-looking statements involve inherent risk and uncertainties, so it is possible that predictions, forecasts, projections and other forward-looking statements will not be achieved. We caution you not to place undue reliance on these statements as a number of important factors could cause actual events or results to differ materially from those expressed or implied in any forward-looking statement. All opinions in forward-looking statements are subject to change without notice and are provided in good faith but without legal responsibility.