

RBC QUBE Low Volatility Global Equity Currency Neutral Fund

Investment Objective

To provide long-term capital growth. The fund invests primarily in units of other mutual funds managed by RBC GAM or an affiliate of RBC GAM (called the underlying funds), emphasizing mutual funds that invest in equity securities of companies throughout the world using a quantitative investment approach. The fund seeks to achieve a reduced level of volatility of returns as compared to the broader global equity market while minimizing the exposure to currency fluctuations between foreign currencies and the Canadian dollar.

Commentary as at June 30, 2019

Global equity markets rallied in the first half of 2019, rebounding from declines at the end of last year, as hopes for more accommodative central-bank policies offset uncertainty about the macroeconomic backdrop. Among the issues weighing on investors were the trade conflict between the U.S. and China and slowing global economic momentum.

The Financials sector was the Fund's largest overall contributor to performance over the first half of 2019, due in part to positioning in Swiss Life and Mizrahi-Tefahot Bank. Overweight positions in Estée Lauder and Intuit also boosted returns.

Positioning in the Information Technology sector hurt the Fund's performance during the period, due in part to F5 Networks and Microsoft. The Fund's overweight allocation to Colruyt had the largest negative impact on performance during the period.

The Fund's currency hedging strategy had a positive impact on returns as unitholders were protected against the overall decline in global currencies versus the Canadian dollar during the first half of 2019.

Global equities ended the period near all-time highs, and the U.S. economic expansion, at more than 10 years, is now one of the longest on record. The length of the U.S. expansion has prompted debate about whether this period of growth will begin to taper.

The economic backdrop is mixed, but the overall picture suggests that the trajectory for global GDP is not that bad. The most significant risk is protectionism, but other threats stem from slowing Chinese growth and European politics (i.e., Brexit). Central banks have abandoned their prior tightening agendas and markets are pricing in the likelihood of interest-rate cuts.
