Commentary as at June 30, 2019

The S&P/TSX Composite Index joined other global equity markets in rebounding from declines recorded in late 2018. A number of macroeconomic developments continue to be the focus for equity investors, including the outlook for global trade, the path and pace of global economic growth, and their combined impact on corporate earnings. The uncertain economic backdrop has resulted in central banks moving to a more cautious approach on monetary policy, which has supported equity valuations.

Stock selection within the Fund was positive in all 11 sectors, with the largest contributions coming from investments in the Real Estate, Utilities and Industrials sectors. Stocks in the Materials and Health Care sectors were the smallest sources of gains for the Fund.

Top-performing individual holdings included Crombie REIT, Thomson Reuters and Intact Financial, while positions in OceanaGold, Saputo and Power Corp. held back returns.

The Fund's sector exposure increased in eight of 11 sectors, with the largest increases being in Real Estate and Utilities. The three sectors in which the Fund's allocation declined were Energy, Consumer Discretionary and Health Care.

During the first half of 2019, the Fund's overall allocation to equities increased significantly due to market trends, and portfolio turnover was high for the Fund given the portfolio manager's model driven investment process. As of June 30, 2019, 71% of the Fund was invested in Canadian equities and the remainder was held in cash.

Looking forward, Canada's economic outlook reflects slowing U.S. growth, trade uncertainty, moderating housing activity and competitiveness concerns. There is also considerable pressure on the Canadian energy sector due to the continuously challenging environment for the production and transportation of crude oil. On a positive note, job creation in Canada has been accelerating at a swift pace. Overall, the portfolio manager expects below average economic growth in Canada over the next year.
